In Memoriam

George R. Nichols

In the death of Mr. George R. Nichols, who departed this life on Saturday, the eleventh of September, 1920, the Presbyterian Hospital and the City sustained a great loss. He was a member of the Board of Managers of the Hospital for more than ten years, and was unfailing in his activities and interest in its behalf.

He was active and generous in his support of all that stood for the best in life. He was a man of high ideals and sound convictions. His honor was never questioned and his name stood for business integrity and a square deal.

A Christian gentleman, he was always true to his obligations, his God, his country and the city in which he lived. Mindful ever of the unfortunate, the poor and the forsaken, his benevolences, tender consideration and sincere sympathy came as a benediction to many. His many virtues will live long in the minds and hearts of those with whom he came in contact.

Be it resolved, That this testimony to the worth of our departed friend be preserved in our records and that we extend to his bereaved widow our sincere sympathy in her great affliction.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

To the Members of the Societies, the Churches, and All Our Other Friends:

In a financial way, the past year has been the culmination of the acute conditions of the previous three: Large wages, inefficient labor, excessive cost of supplies of all kinds. These factors, common to every business and all walks of life, have borne with heaviest pressure on hospitals. They have been unable to check the steadily rising expense account, and equally powerless to increase the revenue. It has not seemed advisable for us to attempt to raise our rates to correspond to the increase of cost. The financial burden of sickness is at best distressing, and to those of moderate means, often a catastrophe. Rather than add to the burdens of such unfortunates, we have thought best to continue our regular rates. This means that the so-called pay-patients in our wards pay more than one dollar less than cost, and this takes no account of the large number of part-pay patients. Therefore, our problem of keeping out of debt without curtailing the volume of our work or its efficiency, has been a difficult one.

Our charity work has been maintained, and has cost us the large sum of $173,482.19. The same amount of work in pre-war times would have cost less than one-half.

The present day scientific method of medical and surgical treatment calls for greatly increased outlay for equipment, supplies and workers. The expense is warranted by the greater success of such treatment, but this steadily increasing cost is a subject of much solicitude to all hospital authorities.

We have maintained our standards of service unimpaired, and added to our equipment where it was imperative.

Early in November, what had been threatening, became an established fact, and a deficit was shown which would inevitably have increased during the balance of the year. A vigorous effort was made to place the facts before our friends, whose response was most generous, particularly in view of the great pressure on all sides from so many different and worthy objects. As a result, we close the year with a small balance on the credit side.

The following extract from an article in "The Survey" a short time since, presents the claims of hospitals in a manner worthy of careful consideration:

"The Hospital represents one of the most legitimate and appealing forms of charitable relief. The sick must be cared for, and if they have no means, they must be cared for at the public expense or from voluntary gifts. Such clinical diagnosis and treatment as are now considered necessary are expensive. They save life and hasten recovery. They prevent suffering and permanent disablement, but they involve large outlay, even though the best medical service is given without price. This is the first and greatest claim of the hospitals—that they represent a necessary and wise philanthropy.

"In the second place, they contribute to the advance of scientific knowledge and to progress in the art of healing. In the hospitals young physicians and surgeons learn the practice of their profession. What goes before is academic, a foundation. But in the wards and on the ambulance, under competent direction and with consultants always within reach, the necessary apprenticeship is served. Patients are at no disadvantage, for the neophyte is a part of a competent medical organization, from all of which they have a direct benefit. The laboratory research, the opportunity to observe many cases of each ailment and complication, to compare observations and to reach sound and tested conclusions, the "esprit de corps" possible in a hospital staff, the association with formal medical instruction—all tend to that steady progress in the science and art of surgery and medicine from which the general public profits more than the medical profession.

"In the third place, the hospitals are great teaching institutions from which their patients and indirectly their relatives and neighbors learn the necessary lessons of preventive medicine. The most important work of any good hospital is in keeping people out of it; in its after care, in its advice to patients on leaving, in what it tells the public as a result of its experience. The hospitals help to reduce the death rate, to prolong the useful working life of the individual, to promote the happiness and well-being of the community."

To all of our friends who have recognized these facts, and have contributed so generously to our needs, both in money and in encouraging appreciation, we desire to tender our sincere thanks.

The Woman's Auxiliary Board has worked in close harmony with the administration of the hospital, and has given important assistance. It is a working board, devoted to the hospital and unsparing of effort to advance its interest.

It has been a successful year for our training school. When most schools have experienced difficulty in obtaining pupils, and some have been quite unsuccessful, our class was filled with 60 pupils one month before the time given, and we were obliged to disappoint many applicants. Your attention is called to the report of the Principal.

The work of the school would be much aided by sufficient endowment to cover its expenses, and such endowment would relieve the hospital of the financial burden of any organization, which like all similar schools must continue to meet the demands of advancing educational requirements.

The Social Service Department has improved its work with children and added prenatal guidance for patients who plan to enter the Maternity Ward of the hospital. This was made possible when Miss Falls, a new worker and a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital School for Nurses, came to us in September. During this year a larger number of patients were referred to the department by the attending staff, internes and nurses, and since July a marked increase of work, formerly done in the Dispensary, has been given to the department, making the year the busiest one in its history.

The Occupational Therapy service has grown steadily in number of patients using its facilities, and in benefits arising from it, and has gradually made a place for itself in the life of the hospital. Each week it helps an average of sixty patients, two-thirds of whom are bed cases. That occupation has value as a remedial agent, is shown by the fact that for each of these bed cases and for many others, occupation has been ordered by the staff. Patients who spend a part of their time in some form of congenial work undoubtedly become normal much faster, while with some types of patients, occupation is the entering wedge to a change of attitude. In many instances the knowledge acquired in the occupational department has solved the difficulty of a long convalescent period at home, and in a number of cases it has led to a new vocation.

The Out-Maternity service has been conducted with important benefits to mothers and children. For the year, the following summary is of interest:

Number of cases delivered	569
Number of births	578
Number of calls made by the doctor and nurses.....	4,657

One of the most beneficent factors of the hospital is the service of the special nurse for poor patients in wards after operations, or when in serious condition medically. A gift of Twenty Thousand dollars made some time since, by Miss Helen D. North, was for the purpose of providing a fund, the income of which should be used for the salary of such a nurse. The desire of the donor was, that the service should primarily be for the benefit of women suffering from heavy operations. The nurse gives her time for, generally, two or three days during the most critical period of the operation, and takes one case after another as the situation demands, supplementing the regular floor nursing of our wards. The service of this nurse has been of great benefit to many patients yearly. To anyone who wishes to give a fund, the income of which will constantly work in alleviating suffering and misery, there is an opportunity of making such a gift. Two or more nurses could be used to great advantage. We expect to have at least one more during the coming year.

Since the last report, the following amounts have been received and added to the endowment:

Woman's Auxiliary Board.....	$ 2,000.00
Estate of Geo. B. Harris.....	81,864.09
Mme. Nettie F. McCormick, for the Heart Fund.....	5,000.00

Acknowledgment is most gratefully made to the Medical Staff, to Mr. Bacon and his assistants; to Miss McMillan and her staff; to Miss Breeze and her assistants in the Social Service Department; to Miss Clark, the matron, and her assistants; to Miss Brainard and her assistants in the Occupational Department and to Miss Townsend in the Out-Maternity service. Also to all of our head nurses on our floors who have so faithfully and loyally discharged their duties. To the devotion of all, to the interest of the hospital and the co-operation on the part of each and all, the success of the past year is due. Our employees have given us faithful service and have contributed their full share to this result. We thank you.

We look forward to a new year with the hope that we shall be able to improve our service, to be of greater use to the community, and do our full part in helping the sick and suffering.

ALBERT M. DAY, President.

THE EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SCHOOL FOR NURSES

Mr. President and Members of the Board of Managers:

Another year of work has been completed by the school, with its usual varied program of activities. Continuous nursing care of the patients of the Hospital has been provided and its secondary obligation of educating the student nurse has been fulfilled.

The continued crowded condition of the hospital, the greater development of scientific work, the use of the wards for teaching purposes, a larger proportion of patients without graduate special nurses, all make the nursing care of the hospital increasingly heavy.

In addition there has had to be met and satisfied a recent critical attitude on the part of the parent and the daughter who considers entering a nursing school, the selection by a larger number of student nurses of those optional courses which take them into other institutions, the freely expressed opinion of the interested public that the type of hospital work assigned to the student nurse be specifically defined and confined to nursing duties.

The above conditions have necessitated supplementing the nursing staff by a greater proportion than formerly of orderlies and ward helpers, with subsequent additional cost to the Institution.

The generous policy of the board since the organization of the school in giving every consideration to the student nurse in return for her voluntary services to the hospital has been amply rewarded during the year 1920 by a large enrollment of young women, when many of the hospitals have lacked student nurses, and it is believed this last expenditure for additional hospital workers will be justified by continued ability to secure non-salaried student nursing care.

The activities in the Sprague Home have covered class room work, recreational and other interests of normal student life. Class instruction has maintained its usual standard, while the interest of the medical staff of the hospital promises even better medical teaching.

The student branch of the Y. W. C. A. has held regular weekly meetings, ending the year's work with its customary Christmas party to the children of the neighborhood. This association, undoubtedly, is an influence for good in the life of the school and contributes both pleasure and profit to the members of the household.

The weekly choral rehearsals, under Mr. Norton, have been looked forward to by the members of the Florence Nightingale Chorus, and its several concerts remembered with pleasure. The chorus has become such an important part of the school life that the lateness of its inception now seems surprising.

During the year this school, with five others, formed the initial members of the Central Council of Nursing Education, which is now made up of representatives from twenty-one hospitals and to which all are looking for assistance in maintaining high standards and in interesting communities to support schools of nursing.

While each year some progress in better educational methods can be reported, the school has still made no advance in securing university affiliation for the combined degree and diploma course and has not secured the needed endowment. Unless both of these become accomplished facts, it will no longer be possible to rank with the more progressive nursing schools of the country.

The student nurses, besides participating in activities for their own pleasure, have contributed time and effort in aiding such causes as the Red Cross membership and Seals drives, in securing contributions for the European Relief Fund and the Colleges of the Orient, while the Fund for the Gladys Foster Memorial nurse for the hospital has been raised $869.22 by their efforts.

Many of the students are taking advantage of the affiliations which the school has been able to make. Twenty-four have taken the excellent course in Mental Nursing given by the Illinois State School of Psychiatry; twenty-six have selected the valuable contagious training at the Durand Contagious Hospital; five have had the advantage of the Public Health Course given by the School of Civics and Philanthropy and eight of a similar course at the University of Chicago; these latter students themselves paying tuition fees and other expenses of the course. Four of our students have had the privilege of attending pre-natal clinics under the direction of the Chicago Visiting Nurse Association, while thirty-eight have taken part in the clinics of the Central Free Dispensary, seventy-seven in the work of the Rush Medical Out Obstetrical Department, ten in the Social Service Department of the hospital under Miss Breeze and her assistants and six under Miss Brainerd and Miss Blatchford in the Occupational Department.

The Woman's Auxiliary Board has assisted six student nurses during the year by small loans of money, and four others who are preparing for the mission field, by granting them scholarships.

The graduate nurse staff and student body enrollment for the year has averaged:

Graduate Nurses	29
Graduate Dietitians	3
Student Nurses	199
Student Dietitians	2

Total average 233

Of these there has been on duty in the hospital an average of:

Graduate Nurses	18
Graduate Dietitians	2
Student Nurses	156
Student Dietitians	2

Total average on hospital duty.....178

In addition, the student nurse body has accomplished in:

The Central Free Dispensary.....	1533 days nursing
The Durand Contagious Hospital.....	1834 days nursing
The Social Service Department.....	539 days nursing
The Out-Obstetrical Department of Rush Medical College....	1189 days nursing
The Illinois State School of Psychiatry.....	2194 days nursing
The School of Civics and Philanthropy.....	397 days
The University of Chicago.....	634 days
The Visiting Nurse Association.....	140 days nursing

There has been an average of fifty-five graduate nurses on special duty in the hospital, accomplishing 20,219 days' nursing with private patients. The "North Nurse" has given 228 days' nursing care to 220 different ward patients, a most valuable service to the individual patient and to the hospital. Sixty-six nurses were graduated in 1920, making a total graduate nurse body of 463.

It is with regret that we report the deaths of four of our graduates during the year:

Miss Mary E. Gunther, class 1915.

Miss Gail F. Thompson, class 1919.

Miss Marie K. Naeseth, class 1914.

Miss Katherine W. Miller, class 1920.

That the graduates of the school are loyal and interested has been shown by the large number who returned to the first Homecoming, on November 11th, 1920, and is daily called to attention by the fact that many of the student nurses, if not the majority, now in the school come to us through the direct or indirect influence of our own graduates. The assistance of the Alumnæ in securing magazines for the library and its recent decision to increase the Mary Byrne Endowment to fifteen thousand dollars in order that the cost of the care of its members should not be borne by the hospital, are further proofs of this interest.

In summarizing the year's work, there stands out emphatically the fact that its successful completion has been due to the co-operation and assistance of the many who have contributed, some largely, others less so, but all valuably. Without this co-operation the year's history would have been very different.

To each one of those many who have helped to make the school what it is, this opportunity is taken to return most grateful appreciation and most sincere thanks, and the hope is expressed that the interest of the past may be retained so that in the coming year a better record of service and accomplishment may be made.

Respectfully submitted,

M. H. McMILLAN,

Superintendent of Nurses and Principal of the School.

REPORT OF RECORDING SECRETARY

The report of the Recording Secretary for the 37th annual meeting is practically a repetition of reports of former years. The monthly meetings preceded by the executive committee meetings have been held as usual throughout the year, with the customary recess during July, August and September. The average attendance has been 64, the maximum in December with 82 and the minimum in February with only 50 faithful ones present. As in past years, Miss Agnes Liddell places the Ninth Church on the honor roll of attendance, as she, its only representative, has never failed but once to be present. Lake View and Lake Forest churches hold second and third places, respectively.

There are 232 members on the board, representing 43 churches and a general membership of 13, beside an honorary membership of 15. During the past year we have lost by death one honorary member, Mrs. Homer N. Hibbard, and four active members, Mrs. J. F. Watkins, Mrs. Fred Schumacher, Mrs. Charles A. Reed, chairman of the Delicacies Committee for twenty years, and Mrs. B. M. Linnell, for many years chairman of the Library Committee. Fifteen new members have been added to our membership and there have been six resignations.

EDITH NEWELL CHILDS, Secretary.

REPORT OF CORRESPONDING SECRETARY

The report of the Corresponding Secretary reads: Forty-eight letters received, sixty-three letters written and seventy-seven cards sent out, calling for special meetings. This does not sound like much of a task, but letters to fit the variety of cases that come to this Woman's Board make the number quite sufficient. Our Bulletin, now so well and widely known, is the largest part of the work. It is issued quarterly and this past year has had a mailing list of 211. Each copy is handled four times before the final mailing. As yet, however, it has not been necessary to ask for an assistant.

The pages of this Bulletin are becoming more and more important and valuable, as our work grows and expands, not only to us, but to many far from Chicago to whom it is sent, and applications for a place on the mailing list continue to come to us.

One very flattering call this year was from a hospital in this part of the state, with a Woman's Board yet in its infancy, where one copy of our Bulletin had been received. They immediately sent for four more copies, enclosing a check for 25c each, that they might make a study of our methods to better advantage and gain ideas to further their own development. In the early days of the Bulletin it was given to each member. Last year, owing to increased expense of publishing, a subscription of 50 cents was asked. All members of the board did not subscribe, nor were all expenses met this way, as they continued to increase, until at the present time we feel the subscription must be included in the annual dues for 1921, making them $2.50 for each member. By this change each one of you will be fortunate enough to receive the Bulletin and the Corresponding Secretary unfortunate enough to have many new names added to the mailing list.

JESSIE A. PENFIELD, Corresponding Secretary.

500 pounds turkey.	110 pounds candy.
2 cases oranges.	50 pounds nuts, mixed.
5 gallons oysters.	120 loaves bread.
18 gallons cream.	1 case cranberries.
50 pounds bacon.	5 Christmas trees.

MRS. CHAS. A. REED, Chairman.

ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE

The Saturday afternoon concerts have been greatly appreciated by patients during the year, the average attendance being forty to sixty. We in turn render hearty thanks to artists who have given their service and ask offers of additional programs from friends who may read this hospital report. We insure them an unusual audience and great pleasure in this unselfish service.

Mr. Bacon had charge of the Christmas Eve entertainment, which was, of course, the banner program of the year, and the Service Club took charge of the Children's Christmas.

MRS. CAREY CULBERTSON, Chairman.

CHAPEL MUSIC

The Chapel Music has continued every Sunday during the year, winter and summer, furnished by musicians of the churches and of music circles of Chicago.

The Fourth Church and Buena Memorial each furnished the music for one Sunday a month. A double quartette from McCormick Seminary was greatly appreciated at the Easter and Christmas services. Miss Sutherland, the accompanist, has given very acceptable service, and the flowers given each Sunday by Miss Drake as a memorial to her mother, are distributed after the service to the patients present.

Attendance at Chapel Service is uniformly large, and the message by the chaplain, Mr. E. N. Ware, is sincerely given and is earnestly accepted by those who are able to be present on Sunday mornings.

HOSPITAL BULLETIN

The Bulletin keeps us in touch with our interests in hospital work, and it makes a firm tie to those who cannot always be at the meetings.

The Bulletin was published during the year at a cost to the Woman's Board of $457.90. Owing to the excessive expense, there were but three numbers issued, the July and October numbers being combined. The January number was of unusual size and interest as it contained, in addition to the annual reports, a historical sketch of the Woman's Board by our retiring president, Mrs. D. W. Graham. The April number, as matter of special note, contained, besides the usual reports, an article by Dr. E. E. Irons on "Detecting Hospital Food Waste." The July-October number was devoted to library work for hospital patients and contained a splendid article on "The Therapeutic Use of a Hospital Library," by Miss Elizabeth Green and Dr. Sidney I. Schwab, of Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

ZELLA D. HERRICK, Chairman.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE

Affiliation with Chicago Public Library has established itself as a necessity and our private collection (catalogued and carded by Mrs. Harry P. Jones, formerly of Oak Park Public Library) is a creditable library, due to the thoughtfulness of board members and friends. Outgoing patients realizing what the library meant to them while in the hospital, on leaving presented their own books to the committee. A weekly distribution of about 150 books, five or six hundred per month, shows the demand for reading matter. A group of eight every Monday make the rounds of wards and private rooms with the book carts, which were made in the Occupational Department to carry the books to the patients that they might select their own books from the library on wheels. Groups in charge:

First Monday, Mrs. Culbertson, Third Church.

First Monday, Mrs. Smalley, Eighth Church.

Second Monday, Miss Dunham.

Third Monday, Mrs. Jesse M. Watkins, Mrs. Charles M. Bacon.

Fourth Monday, Mrs. Olmsted, Miss Reed.

Fifth Monday, Mrs. McDougal, Mrs. Overbagh.

MRS. W. J. AIKEN, Third Church, Chairman & Librarian,

The Y. W. C. A. has had a most successful year under the faithful secretaryship of Miss Marguerite Stewart, while the presence in the school of a group of seventeen volunteers has been of much assistance in carrying its year's program.

The Florence Nightingale Chorus has become most popular and now fills such an important place in the school life that it is hard to realize how the school got on without it.

MISS HELEN V. DRAKE, Chairman.

VISITING

The work of the Visiting Committee is directed by Miss Breeze, who is in charge of the Social Service Department, and all visiting is done under the supervision of the superintendent of the hospital. Mrs. McAfee has been in charge of McCormick students in the hospital; Mrs. H. H. Belfield and Mrs. D. W. Graham for ministers' and missionaries' room; Mrs. Daniel H. Burnham, Jr., women in wards of second and third floor, Jones Building; Mrs. Sheddon and Mrs. White, fourth floor wards; Mrs. Wall, sixth and seventh floor men's wards, Jones Building, and Miss Elizabeth Maltman, special cases for Miss Breeze.

Chairman.

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY

Miss Brainerd, in charge of Occupational Therapy, and Miss Blatchford, her assistant, have their healing shop at the "top of the world," viz., the roof of the Murdoch Building. A very interesting development in medical and social science in the last decade has been an appreciation of the tremendous value of work as a therapeutic agent. Patients come to the shop with the doctor's order and a regular case record is kept by the department, and the number of doctors who recognize this therapeutic agent is increasing. The department offers basketry, toy making, weaving, brushmaking, block printing, stenciling, copper work, leather work, woodworking, chair caning and rush-seat work for the use of the patients.

MRS. L. HAMILTON McCORMICK.

SOCIAL SERVICE STATISTICAL REPORT

Through Miss Breeze, head of the department, the hospital expresses humanity, practical wisdom, wise kindness and patient friendliness.

Miss Breeze writes: There were in 1920

Office Calls	4,021
Home Visits	2,222
Letters Written	459
Letters Received	755
Cases Handled	2,369

This is an average of about 225 cases per month during the year; until July the average was 195, but after that all hospital arrangements for dispensary patients were made in Social Service Office, which increased the work. It has, however, put us in contact with many patients. Miss Thornton is Miss Breeze's able assistant; and early in September Miss Falls was added to our staff of workers, and has taken care of all the pre-natal maternity and children's cases needing our attention. The pre-natal work is proving a benefit to the young mother and meets the approval of the medical men. Ten pupil nurses have received practical experience in the department through the year, giving 400 days' service.

Our work with 143 other organizations has been mutually helpful and gratifying. We have sent 35 patients to convalescent homes to regain strength before undertaking their usual responsibilities. Seventy-five of our maternity babies have been put under the guidance of Infant Welfare nurses, as well as many of the infants who leave the babies' ward.

Work of all kinds was plentiful until the late summer, but since then there has been an alarming increase of the unemployed, with the consequent trail of undernourishment and ill health of the less able ones and the children.

CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT

Under Miss Rahtge, the children's department is an interesting group of rooms on the fifth floor of Jones Building. The purchase of wool garments for the babies has made for their comfort and health. The cases are largely surgical, as the Infant Welfare Stations of the city give directions for feeding and care, and are proving of benefit to a large number of children who were formerly hospital cases. Miss Fowler is in charge of instruction and entertainment of convalescent children.
